RAILROAD OFFICES -The main dispatchers' office of the Southern Rail-way has been returned to Alexandria whence it was removed to Charlot:esville several years ago. Superinten-tendent A. Gordon Jones of the Wash-Ington division, who has had his head-quarters in Charlottesville for some time, has arrived here bringing with him the following clerks and dis-patchers: Mesars, P. B. Peyton, G. M. Scott, J. W. Burgess, R. L. Wilkins, Roger B. Adams and B. D. Lewis. Mesers, R. M. Balthis, M. F. Jarman, W. E Faulconer and Robert Conway will remain in Charlotteeville to handle the business of the southern end of the night with a comparative stranger. division. The old Brent residence on Prince street between Patrick and Henry, which a number of years ago was used by the Southern Railway, has again been leased by the company and has been conveniently arranged as an office building. Mr. Jones will have his headquarters in the building as will also some of the other officials of the company.

Mr. W. H. Peddle having resigned, the office of general superintendent of transportation of the Southern Railway is abolished. Mr. E. E. Betts has been appointed superintendent of car service, with office in Washinston.

FELL INTO A RUN.-The basis for a good story for a Sunday-school book could have been procured yesterday morning near the west wall of the Namorning near the west wall of the Ma-tional Cemetery. Some boys, whose parents probably imagined they were at Sunday-school, were climbing the willow trees on the banks of Hooff's run after birds' nests. Ose youngster had ascended to the top limbs of one of the trees and was in close proximity to a nest when the limb broke and he descended with a rush, clearing his way through the boughs, and fell in a posterior pos tion in the rate. The water shot up like a geyser to fall back upon the luckness youth in the shape copious snowerbath. He was more frightened than hurt, and his companions assisted him to the bank. He resembled a person who had been scouped up by a mud machine and thrown in the dump. While the birls chirped the bedraggled youth slowly wended his way home

A WORN-OUT CHESTNUT .- Wouldbe wit bave been making sensible peo-ple tired for some time by flings at Alexandria when passing through the city on trains or up or down the river on steamborts, and on Friday, it is said, some guides on excursion trains on the electric railway indulged in such sallies ad nauseam. While the such sallies an baussam. While the trains were passing through Alexandris they ever and anon called out, to the merriment of the passengers, "The fluished city," "the sleeping city," and made other senseless expressions. It's about high time that those who select guides for excursion parties recognized the fact that ribaldry is not the only oredential requisite for such a position. Doubtless some who laughed yesterday at their loquatious guides came from places unknown to the great worldsequestered spots which never had nor never will have a history.

FIREMAN KILLED,-Gordon Good win, a fireman on the Southern Rail-way, was killed near Mitchell station, about seventy miles south of Alexandria, at an early bour yesterday morning. The unfortunate man who was about twenty-two years of age, left here Saturday night on a freight train and was struck by Cedar Run bridge near the place mentioned. He had only the place mentioned. He had only been in the employ of the company about two months. It appears that the train had parted and that he leaned out of the cab of the engine as the train reached the bridge and was struck by the uprights. He was a brother of Mrs. Ernest R. Boyer, of this city, and also of Engineer Goodthis city, and also of Engineer Goodwin, of the Southern Railway. The deceased lived at Gordonsville where he has a wife and family. His remains were shipped to that place.

He was warned not to be guilty of similar offenses.
